

UNWRITTEN LAWS WILL BE ENFORCED

Every institution has its unwritten law, interesting in origin and powerful in influence. In colleges, a Freshman sometimes finds these traditions and customs extremely hard to understand, but in a short time accepts them.

Certain college traditions seem to be universal. An example of this is the law of the Freshman. Young University has its modification of this tradition.

Students are compelled to observe certain rules. They must be present at the assembly on the first day of school, and must be present at the assembly on the first day of school.

Even when the Freshman diligently attempts to remember forbidden things and the result, as he is still in danger of receiving the stern of a wiser discipline for failing to observe other traditions.

Three devotional meetings a week, which all students attend, is customarily a required study.

tion originating with the school itself demands that to one applicant after the investigation. Although simple, it is a strong factor in upholding the "Y" spirit.

Certain young members of Young University stand by to learn the "College Song" and to stand with each other in the spirit of the Freshman and make them feel instantly at home since their ignorance has long remained unperceived. Other members that it is chiefly to protect their authority. However, it does tend to consolidate the Freshman class and further the members into college life.

UNIVERSITY BAND To Have MANY MUSICIANS

Players Who Won The State Prize Return to School.

"From every indication the B. Y. U. Band will be larger and better than ever before," is the opinion of Dr. D. J. Jones, director of the band. Young University band was given first prize, a large sum of money, in the state fair last year. It will compete at the fair next year. Any one who has heard the band at the state fair will be glad to appreciate how much it added to the spirit of the game.

Students winning the trophy at the state fair, the band made a four through Southern Utah. These are four scholarships open to band students. Mr. Norman of the C. T. Center Company at American Fork gives two, each a fifty dollar scholarship. The other two are given to the state fair. Dr. Warren Allen of Utah gives a scholarship to the most efficient band and orchestra student.

Y. U. offers opportunity to come a good musician in a short time because of its daily trip. It is as much as music has or ought to have. Many important places and some hard to reach. It is a strong inducement to young men to take up that line of study. Many of the former students are now employed as teachers and instructors and are doing well.

For the most advanced students all kinds of organizations are provided, brass, clarinet, and saxophone. The band is organized. A student will find a chance to get the most of it.

Professor Robert Stuart says, "The new students will find it in addition to those last year, it will be possible to have a much better band than last year."

Last year's band consisted of nearly fifty pieces. It is known through the inter-communication section as the best of the features of the University of Provo City.

For the splendid accomplishments of the band in past years, the band deserves commendation. Its wide experience and professional skill take the new students in a relatively short time. Professor Robert Stuart says, "The new students will find it in addition to those last year, it will be possible to have a much better band than last year."

Four Thousand Specimens Gathered During Expedition.

The Brigham Young University expedition, which left the city of Salt Lake on the 10th of July, has returned with a collection of the fauna in variety and number. More than 4,000 specimens which have been gathered in the field. This expedition was led by Dr. D. J. Jones, director of the band. The expedition was a success in every respect. The collection, which is now in the hands of the university, is a valuable addition to the scientific knowledge of the region.

GOING DOWN

Why do you look so worried, Lendy? But you know how I am going to bring the cat's paw out of it. I don't know if he's not the best of his kind of his kind.

But if I were a devil I'd enjoy my dog. I'd give him a bone and the boy. I'd love, Lendy, I would do for you. Young Digger—is that a promise?
